CHRISTIAN THEOLOGY

Course Description

Christian Theology introduces students to the study of theology and the major topics addressed in systematic theology: Revelation, theology proper (the doctrine of God), Christology, pneumatology, soteriology, ecclesiology, and eschatology. The course will provide students with a sound theological foundation within the Protestant, evangelical tradition without promoting a particular stream within that tradition. Under the presupposition that good theology is practical theology, help students apply theological truths to everyday experience.

In this course, students will examine:
